

Dydd Gwener 25 Hydref
15 To edit revise and draft

Creeping they tiptoed, the four worried and scared warriors, to the creaky door. Determined they walked slower towards the door of doom. First in line was Charlie very small but ^{not the smallest} still, definitely had the most courage. His hair was as dark as the night sky. Next was Ben the slowest because of nerves he was arguably the fastest but too scared to run. After that was Alexia most defiantly the bossy, her eyes where as blue as a whale in the deep blue sea. Her hair was golden quite short she was the smallest of them all. Fourthly was Jodie her eyes where as green as the grass she was the tallest she was as tall as a grass her hair was brown as chocolate.

In an instant Alexia quickly span to Ben with confidence. Flaming through her Fearcon face she demanded "Shine that special touch in that room right now!"

Ben whispered "B-but w-what if it wakes u-up will get me."

Alexia shouted "If you don't ill get you, get in there right now or ill throw you in there!"

Ben responded "O-ok."

Alexia roared "Charlie you wake that rock but wait until I slay the vampire with my stake. You Jodie must hold that cross and face it, at the vampire ill go in with my lion heart!" No body was going to argue with her. They quickly crept to the door there Feling's where drawing with fear had they succeeded?

Heart's bursting out of there fearless chests, the ultimate team walked snickly into the blood filled room 13. They took a breath, it took a will for them to see the demon of death. Their it was with it's evil black heart. Ben's touch shone bright like the sun shining in your face. The black hearted beast layed still as if it was dead. They didn't dare to touch it because it's eyes were open it had ruby red raging eye's. They did not want the blood hovering beast to kill them. It's teeth were sharper than a chisel's.

Instantly Alexia raised her stake and aimed it towards the black hearted vampire, just then she thought for a moment Alexia was unsure if the blood sucking demon of death was awake. Ben shone the light at the dusty dusty demon's dinner chamber suddenly the evil devilish eyes opened. The vampire eyes glared in horror for what he saw in front of him, he screamed the beast saw the four weapons of death approaching him. Jodie raised the crosses aloft, in the blink of an eye the blood thirsty beast launched forward for it's delicious dinner. The fearless team propelled themselves on to the demon and toppled him onto the cold blooded floor. Stumbling Alexia stabbed the stake straight through the black dark heart of death Charlie cracked the rock as hard as he could four or five times, in a matter of seconds a horrifying screech pierced their ears. hurry. it's done. Finally it's over.